

Sport Leadership and Management

About this Composite Major

The Sport Leadership and Management program prepares individuals for careers in various aspects of the sports industry; it caters to students with a passion for sports who aspire to pursue rewarding careers in various sports industry sectors. The program blends coursework in business, management, marketing, finance, and leadership with a focus on the unique dynamics of athletic environments. Here are key aspects of the program:

- Sport Leadership and Management programs offer a mix of classroom and practical coursework tailored to the sports industry. Students study topics such as sports marketing, sports law, facility management, event planning, sports finance, ethics in sports, sports psychology, and organizational leadership.
- Emphasize hands-on experience through internships, practicums, or fieldwork opportunities with sports organizations, teams, leagues, or sports facilities. This practical experience allows students to apply classroom knowledge in real-world settings and build professional networks within the sports industry.
- Can pursue diverse career paths within the sports industry, including roles in sports marketing and promotion, facility and event management, sports administration, sports media and broadcasting, sports analytics, athlete representation, sports sponsorship and fundraising, and sports entrepreneurship.

Overall, the Sport Leadership and Management program provides students with the knowledge, skills, and practical experience needed to thrive in the dynamic and rapidly evolving sport management and administration professions.

Meet a Student

The Sport Leadership and Management major is unique with how we focus on all aspects of coaching including the front office jobs, the legal side of sports, and even different techniques of coaching. Over the summers working with the President of the VCBA has given me a lot of insight towards not only coaching but also how money is raised towards programs and how a program keeps players invested. Getting a glimpse of the coaching life has only made me want to pursue this program and job more. Along with giving my knowledge of the sport to these young players, this job has shown how I can impact their futures outside of sport. The impact the players and I have on each other make this work that much more worth while. - Brooks Brown, Fargo, ND

"What I have loved about the Sports Management program at VCSU is how supportive the professors and advisors are. They truly want to see you succeed not only in the classroom but in the field as well. The program has not only taught me about business and analytical training but also the importance of leadership and how to apply these skills in a professional/amateur sports setting."-Bayli Heap, Nephi, Utah

a coach. I eventually want to transition to a high school football coach and teach. I would love to coach at my high school in the future someday." -Dalvin Simmons, Little Rock, Arkansas

Get Involved in the Major

The Kinesiology and Human Performance Club empowers students by providing invaluable opportunities such as attending professional conferences, crafting resume materials, preparing for exams like the GRE and PRAXIS, navigating the application processes for professional graduate programs, and studying for certifications and credentialing exams. The club is dedicated to cultivating students' growth and achievement within their discipline, fostering success in both academic and professional environments.

"VCSU has prepared me for real-world situations. Moving from Arkansas to North Dakota has been an adjustment, but for the type of work I'm considering being adaptable is important, especially if I plan to coach on the collegiate level for a few years. It's also shown me the importance of creating relationships with individuals and getting out of my comfort zone. I plan to stay on the college level as a coach for a few years to continue to learn and grow as
