

Continuing Education Online Providers

Ed2Go Courses

Ed2Go (Education To Go) is a leading provider of online continuing education—offering more than 250 non-credit and more than 50 credit-bearing courses taught online by expert instructors. Ed2Go has partnered with Valley City State University to offer these courses.

CE Credits Online

CE Credits Online is a nationwide provider of university-accredited, high-quality, standards-based, online continuing education courses that focus on improving teaching and student achievement. CE Credits Online curricula is content-rich and abundant with research-based strategies to improve classroom and school environments, to move educators to intentional best practice, and to improve student achievement. Valuable for new and experienced teachers, teams, leads, mentors and administrators (K-12).

Model Teaching

Valley City State University offers graduate-level professional development courses for semester credits in partnership with Model Teaching. Model Teaching provides affordable online courses for K-12 educators across the country. Each Model Teaching course delivers content in a step-by-step format, provides printable resources ready for use, and supports actionable implementation through engaging activities. When you register with a Model Teaching course, you can start immediately and work entirely online and at your own pace.

ND Educational Hub

The Educational Hub is an online platform that houses professional development, mandated state trainings, and resources in one centralized, easy-to-access location. It is the product of a seamless partnership between the North Dakota Department of Public Instruction, six North Dakota Regional Educational Associations (NDREAs), and other partner agencies. Users will be working in a Canvas based system with easy access to credit and completion records.

Credits for Teachers

Credits for Teachers offers graduate level professional development courses for K-12 educators of all content areas.

Our mission is to provide educators with a variety of relevant and impactful teaching strategies that will not only benefit their practice and therefore the learning of their students but can also be easily implemented into any classroom. All our courses are completely online and self-paced, so educators can easily fit them into their busy schedules and complete them on their own time. While using our courses towards recertification, salary advancement, and continuing education credits, educators can improve their practice and enhance their passion for teaching.

Next Gen Personal Finance (NGPF)

Valley City State University offers graduate professional development credit in conjunction with Next Gen Personal Finances (NGPF). NGPF is providing teacher professional development coursework to promote personal finance education in your high school curriculum. Courses can be accessed at any time, worked on at your convenience, and are easy to navigate. Collaborate with teachers and build your confidence in 1-hour Virtual PDs, 10-hour Certification Courses, and 1-hour On-Demand Modules.